The 2005 Annual Campaign
for Boys & Girls Clubs of Santa Monica

Boys & Girls Clubs' of Santa Monica Youth of the Year

Danny's family experience has been far from typical. Born to drug-addicted parents, odds were stacked against Danny. At only four years of age, Danny was taken from his parents whose drug use was out of control. Luckily, he had two things going for him: a loving aunt who took him in, and the Boys & Girls Clubs of Santa Monica.

At the club, Danny participated in a variety of programs ranging from athletics to the arts. His participation in character and leadership groups helped him to develop into a caring, young adult. Danny turned to staff members for support and guidance and proved to be a wonderful role model to younger club members. As Danny says, "Being a member of the club makes me feel like part of a big family."

Today, Danny's future looks bright. He has graduated from high school and plans to study media arts & computer animation in art school. Danny is one of millions of young people who receive hope for a brighter, healthier tomorrow from Clubs every year.
